GAME PREVIEW

The Ice Flyers have a New Year's resolution: New Year, New Team. After a Christmas season that saw back-to-back wins, the Ice Flyers dropped back-to-back games to return to .500 on the season. The weekend started at home against the Birmingham Bulls in front of an electric sell-out crowd of 5608. The Ice Flyers jumped out to an early lead on Garrett Milan's 10th goal of the season, but Pensacola hit rough ice, surrendering 3 unanswered goals. However, Milan breathed life back into the Hangar when he netted two second-period goals for the team's second hat trick of the year. Ultimately, it wouldn't be enough for the Ice Flyers. The Bulls' Troy MacTavish would score the game-winner mid-way through the third, despite a late power play opportunity, the Ice Flyers fell to the Bulls 6-4.

The Ice Flyers would get another shot to end 2022 on a good note, squaring off against the Macon Mayhem in the Macon Centreplex on New Year's Eve. Pensacola poured on the shots in the first, but it was Macon's Caleb Cameron who would find the net first. The Mayhem led 1-0 going into the second period, but Ice Flyer Joey Sofo tied it up with his third goal of the year. Macon regained the lead on a short-handed goal by Aaron Aragon. The Ice Flyers returned the favor a few minutes later with Malik Johnson scoring his own short-handed goal to knot up the game once again. Unfortunately, the Ice Flyers fell silent in the third period, only recording 4 shots on goal. Mayhem winger, David Nippard, sealed the game with a goal midway through the third. The Ice Flyers dropped their first game to the Mayhem this season 3-2.

Now that we have flipped our calendars to 2023, the Ice Flyers look to get back on track with a home matchup against the Birmingham Bulls. These two teams will face off three times over the next ten days providing the Ice Flyers an opportunity to climb up the standings. The game will see the league's top two offenses duke it out. The Ice Flyers start the new year with an opportunity to change their trajectory from the friendly confines of the Bay Center. Pensacola will be home seven out of the nine games in January. Birmingham should have one of its star players, Michael Gillespie, back in the line up. Pensacola saw a pair of call-ups with defensemen Ryan Orgel on loan to the Adirondack Thunder (ECHL) and Defensemen Jay Powell on loan to the Kansas City Thunder (ECHL). Goalie Riley Morris joins the Ice Flyers after Hank Johnson was waived on Wednesday (1/4).

It is Youth Jersey Giveaway night at the Hangar! The first 1,000 kids through the door will receive a free youth jersey. Kids 12 and under must have a ticket and be present to receive the jersey. For more information and upcoming promotions visit iceflyers.com.
